Grammar

Plural nouns in Spanish:

- ❖ We usually add “s” at the end of the word in Spanish to make the noun a plural word:
una manzana/ dos manzanas
- ❖ Watch out! If the noun ends in a consonant, we need to add “es” at the end of the word to make it plural:
un melocotón / dos melocotones
- ❖ When you want to explain what items you have in your picnic, you may want to use either the phrase “there is...” or “there are..”. In Spanish we only have one phrase: “hay...” means both “there is ...” and “there are.....”.
En mi cesta, hay un bocadillo. = In my basket, there is a sandwich.
En mi cesta, hay dos manzanas. = In my basket, there are two apples.
